

2021 Quarterly Update

Presidents Update

Mina Hah, MD

Dear Members of CCPS,

It was wonderful to communicate with you all directly again. I hope you are faring well during this summer and are taking some time for vacation.

I wanted to thank everyone who worked to put together our Spring CME event on May 22, 2021. We haven't let COVID stop our process of providing quality content to our members. During that event we had a stimulating discussion from Dr. Abdolrezza Saadabadi and Dr. Bagga on the use and evidence of the newer antipsychotic agents.

Conservatorships in Freefall?

*Randall Hagar, Legislative Advocate
Psychiatric Physicians Alliance of California (PPAC)*

Free Britney. Troubled superstar Britney Spears recently made a very public and impassioned plea to a court to release her from conservatorship. The next day she apologized for overstating her case. Now at press time, in a new hearing Ms. Spears - who had been hitherto denied a request to be represented by an attorney of her own choosing - was granted the right to choose her own representation.

Unity in Diversity

*Ravi Goklaney, MD, DLFAPA
Chair Public Relations and Fundraising Committee*

Dear Colleagues,

We lost more than fifty members in 2021 which I believe is due to two reasons. One reason is lack of communication among CCPS leaders with members of CCPS over period of four years. The current leadership of CCPS has begun to recommunicate with members by news letter and also encouraging members if they have any concerns or issues they are free to articulate with leadership of CCPS.
